

PATIENT PACKS ARE A REAL COMFORT

Bethesda Health Care is proud to confirm a successful and highly appreciated collaboration with The Georgina Hope Foundation - a non-profit charitable organisation established by Mrs. Gina Rinehart and daughter Ginia, after Mrs. Rinehart's efforts in the mining industry making funding of this foundation possible.

Each week, since last year, the Georgina Hope Foundation delivers gift baskets to male and female patients within the hospital, in both the surgical and palliative care wards.

Each pack contains luxurious items such as Sheridan pillows, towels, mattress topper, hair treatments and a selection of Aesop products, all carefully chosen by Mrs. Rinehart and Ginia.

Sleep is always important for recovery and so is infection risk reduction, and Mrs. Rinehart was eager to include the mattress topper comforters and new pillows in the packs so that patients could sleep better and then take the items home with them as their own.

The Foundation recognises the challenges and struggles many patients face during their illness and it is their hope that this gesture will make patients feel more comfortable whilst in hospital and also continue to aid recovery whilst at home.

Bethesda Health Care is one of five hospitals in WA to collaborate with the Georgina Hope Foundation.

Bethesda Health Care CEO, Ms Yasmin Naglazas said that 'these gift packs are stocked full of such desirable and luxury items that our patients cannot believe that they are receiving them. The packs really do make a difference to the patient experience, and we are thrilled to be chosen as a beneficiary of the Foundation'.

Bethesda Health Care is an independent 88-bed award-winning hospital in Claremont who has been providing care and service to the Western Australian community for more than 70 years.
