Day to day duties for this role will include (but not be limited to):

- Delivery of exceptional patient care, demonstrating a level of skill in clinical decision making and hands-on care-giving for a range of acute surgical conditions
- Appropriate and accurate application of clinical assessment procedures to evaluate health status to identify and apply timely care intervention for best patient outcomes
- Effective interpersonal and communication skills that enhances and supports quality patient care and accuracy of clinical record, builds team trust and confidence
- Compliance with, and application of current policies and procedures and an understanding of their implications for nursing practice to achieve best practice patient outcomes.

This role requires a compassionate individual with suitable skills and competence to work as part of our multidisciplinary Perioperative and Surgical departments.

A strong emphasis will be placed on the applicant's ability to demonstrate, commit to and apply the organisation's values of Teamwork, Respect, Integrity, Compassion, Excellence and Professionalism, in the workplace.

Key Selection Criteria

1. Tertiary qualification and current registration with AHPRA
2. Relevant medical experience that demonstrates knowledge and skills in perioperative or surgical units
3. Demonstrated ability to effectively communicate, share information and work collaboratively with a multi-disciplinary health team
4. Effective communication and interpersonal skills to build trust, promote confidence and satisfaction with patients, families' and support persons
5. Current Police Check (no more than 6 months old) and Working with Children Check
6. Full working rights in Australia
